

REL 605: Religion and the Body in Late Antiquity

History of the human body as history of its modes of construction in Graeco-Roman antiquity. Problems that arise when the body becomes a topic for religious inquiry. Readings in ancient texts and contemporary theory. Prereq: Permission of instructor.