

REL 692: Other People's Religions

Explores the ways that Western studies of non-Western religions have dealt with difference. Central aim is to understand the politics of knowledge and the arts of interpretation involved in research and writing about other people's religious traditions. Permission of instructor.