

DEPARTMENT OF RELIGION FPP EVENTS

Our Future Professoriate Program

For more than 20 years, Syracuse University's innovative Future Professoriate Program has worked to prepare graduate students for the range of responsibilities that they will assume as members of the professoriate, with a particular focus on the importance of teaching.

The Department of Religion sees this preparation as an integral part of its graduate program that gives students the perspective, experience, and confidence to excel as scholar-teachers and future faculty members.

The Department of Religion's Future Professoriate Program attends to this vital dimension of graduate education through mentoring relationships, practical workshops, and discussions of pedagogical and professional matters tailored to its students' needs and interests.

Fall 2012 Schedule
Event	Date	Location
Making the Library Work for You: An Interactive Workshop	September 6, 2:30 p.m.	Bird Library 046
Course Design: From Inspiration to Evaluation, Part 1	September 12, 9:00 a.m.	Hall of Languages 504
Teaching the Traditions: Persistent Questions and Common Conundrums	October 10, 9:00 a.m.	Hall of Languages 504
Inside the Scholar's Studio	October 24, 7:00 p.m.	Maxwell Auditorium
Conference Paper Practice Session	November 8, 2:00 p.m.	Hall of Languages 500
Cake and Whine	November 13, 7:00 p.m.	Prof. Robert's house
Course Design: From Inspiration to Evaluation, Part 2	November 28, 9:00 a.m.	Hall of Languages 504

Please join us for a series of stimulating conversations and activities that explore pedagogical, professional, and related domains.

For more information, contact William Robert (wrobert@syr.edu) or Jacqueline Borowve (jborowve@syr.edu) or visit the Department of Religion, in person (Hall of Languages 501) or online (<http://religion.syr.edu>).

Department of Religion Faculty

